Dear Greg,

The students on the Responding to Public Health Challenges Module have found the Wimba Create interface extremely easy to navigate and have commented favourably on both this and its very clean and tidy approach to materials and resources. Both the UK and international students have engaged positively within the exercises and workbook component within the module and suggested that it would be beneficial to extend the answer tab to include a context/country specific direction, which was accommodated and met with positive feedback on this additionally function. Our students currently use a variety of mobile devices and tablets to access the online materials and using Wimba create has been particularly uncomplicated and consistent, whereas we have encountered a few issues in relation to accessible interfaces for online chat forums, dependant on the device.

Overall the Module team and students have had a very positive experience of using Wimba create and through further fine tuning and adaptations this can only be enhanced

Hope this covers the essence of what you were looking for.

*Kindest regards
Clair*
