

Electronic publishing

Header page

Simon Mahony

This is the header page for the collection: 'Electronic publishing'.

This is a collection of teaching materials taken from a Masters level module at University College London with a focus on the digital humanities and electronic publishing. The header page with list of contents and links is at: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/34>.

The materials here were originally constructed as part of a project titled 'OER Digital Humanities (DHOER)' at University College London, funded under the UK Open Educational Resources, phase II, Ai: release strand (06/10) in 2011 by the Higher Education Academy (HEA) and Jisc.

They are all (unless otherwise stated) released under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International licence and the intention is that they are to be reused and re-purposed. See here for more information: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0/>. Please attribute this as your source and forward any feedback or questions to: s.mahony@ucl.ac.uk (or follow the link on the DHOER logo).

Where indicated, some of the presentations are from guest speakers who are named on the opening slide.

The presentations and any accompanying materials are released here as PDFs. However, to facilitate reuse the original source files are available in Open Document Format (.ZIP-ed as a complete module, see the list below).

The presentations can be used separately, in any order (they do not follow a fixed sequence) or put together as a complete module.

The full list of files are as follows:

PDFs:

- Introduction to electronic publishing: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/35>
- (So-called) Web 2.0 / Web 3.0: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/37>
- E-books: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/38>
 - E-books class practical: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/38>
- Introduction to user-centred design: From requirements to evaluation: : <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/40>
- Publishing journals today and for the future : <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/41>
- Metadata, preservation, and sustainability: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/42>
- Digitisation of text and images: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/43>
- Culture and human-computer interaction: Culture's influence on interaction: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/44>
- Open access and institutional repositories: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/45>

ADDITIONAL:

- Wikipedia class practical: <http://ucloer.eprints-hosting.org/id/eprint/46>

These can all be searched for and downloaded using the URI in the list above.

ACCESSIBILITY:

The source files can be opened and edited using any ODF writer which includes:

- OpenOffice (free download) <http://www.openoffice.org/>
- LibreOffice (free download) <http://www.libreoffice.org/>
- Microsoft Word 2007 SP2 (or later)

The .ZIP files can be extracted using the OpenSource software 7Zip which is freely downloadable at: <<http://www.7-zip.org/download.html>>

For a simple way to extract the .ZIP file, first download and install 7Zip. Create a folder on your desktop, add the .ZIP file, right-click that file, from the menu go to 7Zip, select 'Extract Here' and the files will appear in that new folder.